YOUR CARDHOLDER AGREEMENT WITH US

In this Cardholder Agreement (the "Cardholder Agreement" or "Agreement") "you" and "yours" mean the borrower(s) and "we," "us" and "Bank" mean TD Bank, N.A. "Account" means the credit Card Account governed by this Agreement. "Card" means any device we provide to you to access your Account. Card may include, but is not limited to, your Account number stored on a participating website or mobile wallet (your "Virtual Card"), physical cards, electronic tokens, or any other access device we authorize. You may only receive a Virtual Card when you open your Account. You may or may not receive a physical Card depending on the program.

Your Card is issued and your Account is owned by TD Bank, N.A. All extensions of credit in connection with the Account are made by the Bank. This Agreement establishes the terms of the Account. You should retain it for your records. By signing for your first purchase, keeping or otherwise accepting the Card or Account, you agree to the terms and conditions of the Agreement.

1. Your Promise to Pay and How to Use Your Account: You will be liable for all use of the Card or the Account by you or by any person with actual, implied, or apparent authority to act for you or to use the Card or the Account, including but not limited to any person you have designated to us as an authorized user ("Authorized User"). Any such use will constitute acceptance of all the terms and conditions of this Agreement, even though this Agreement is not signed.

You authorize us to charge your Account for all purchases resulting from the use of the Card or the Account (each a "Purchase"). You promise to pay us in U.S. Dollars drawn on a U.S. bank for all of Purchases, plus interest charges and all other fees and charges owed under this Agreement.

Use of the Card or Account may include physical use, orders by mail or telephone, computer or other electronic transactions made without presenting the Card, or any other circumstance where you authorize a charge or authorize someone else to make a charge to the Account. You agree to use the Card and the Account only for your own lawful personal, family or household purposes. You agree that you and each Authorized User will not use the Card or the Account for any business or commercial purposes. If this is a joint account, we may require that you pay the full amount owed without first asking any other person to pay.

2. About the Financing Offers that May be Available to You for Eligible Transactions:

a. Generally: Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Agreement, we may, at our option, make certain financing offers available for certain types of Purchases ("Promotional Offers"). Details of the Promotional Offer, such as minimum purchase requirements or other restrictions, will be described in the specific offer. Features of Promotional Offers may include, among other things, interest-free periods; deferral and forgiveness of interest if a purchase is paid in full within the promotional period; reduced interest rates; and/or special payment terms, including payments higher than otherwise required. The benefits of Promotional Offers may be contingent upon payment of your Account in accordance with this Agreement and/or the Promotional Offers. Information about Promotional Offers will be shown separately on your monthly billing statement ("Statement") while the Promotional Offer is in effect. If you use your Account for a Promotional Offer, you acknowledge and agree that the specific terms of the Promotional Offer will modify and become part of this Agreement, and all other terms and conditions of this Agreement will apply to the Promotional Offer.

b. Examples of Promotional Offers that May be Available for Eligible Transactions:

Promotional Offers with Deferred Interest and with Standard Payment Terms: For this type of Promotional Offer, deferred interest charges are computed at the APR for standard Purchases listed in the Account Summary Table from the date of purchase until the end of the promotional period. If on-time payments on the Account are made during the promotional period and the promotional Purchase balance is paid in full before the end of the promotional period, the deferred interest charges are waived. After the Promotional Offer period has expired, your Promotional Offer will be revoked and the deferred interest will be assessed. Thereafter, interest will continue to be charged on any remaining balance (and also on any deferred interest assessed) at the then current standard APR for Purchases listed in the Account Summary Table, until paid in full.

For this type of Promotional Offer there is no special payment calculation and the minimum payment for the promotional balance is calculated in accordance with Section 5 of this Agreement. Making only the minimum monthly payment will not pay off the promotional balance by the end of the promotional period and deferred interest will be assessed. Larger payments are required to pay off the promotional balance to avoid paying the deferred interest. The Promotional Offer period for this type of offer will generally be from 6 to 24 months.

Promotional Offers with a 0% APR and with an Equal Number of Payments: For this type of Promotional Offer, the APR for Purchases during the promotional period will be 0%. Payments will generally equal the amount of the purchase divided by the number of months in the promotional period. The Promotional Offer period for this type of offer will generally be from 12 to 100 months.

Promotional Offers with a Reduced APR and with Fixed Monthly Payments: For this type of Promotional Offer, the APR for Purchases will be the reduced APR disclosed to you at the time of the purchase. We will begin charging interest at the reduced APR from the first day of the billing cycle that begins immediately after the billing cycle in which the reduced APR promotional balance is added to your Account. You can avoid paying interest on this type of Promotional Offer Purchase by paying all of the following, as shown on the first statement that includes the reduced APR promotional balance: i) the required Minimum Payment Due; ii) all outstanding balance(s) with an APR higher than the APR on the reduced APR balance; iii) any deferred interest promotional balance that is within the last two billing cycles of the promotional period; and iv) the total of the reduced APR promotional balance. Otherwise, during the promotional period, interest at the reduced APR is charged from the first day of the billing cycle that begins immediately after the billing cycle in which the reduced APR promotional balance is added to your Account.

Payments are calculated by adding the promotional balance and the estimated amount of interest that would be assessed on the promotional balance during the promotional term at the applicable APR if only on-time minimum payments are made. This amount is then divided by the number of months of the promotional period. The Promotional Offer period for this type of offer will generally be from 24 to 72 months.

Pay-In-Full Charges: Certain purchases or transactions may be identified as "Pay-in-Full Charges". These charges will be included in the minimum payment due calculated for the billing statement on which the charges appear. The minimum payment must be paid by the due date shown on your billing statement. Interest will not be charged on such Pay-In-Full Charges.

3. How We Calculate the Interest Charges on Your Account:

a. Interest and Any Minimum Interest Charges: Each billing cycle, we separately determine the interest charges on standard Purchases and each separate kind of promotional Purchase (each, a "Type of Balance"). For each Type of Balance, we determine interest charges each billing cycle by multiplying the Balance Subject to Interest Rate by the applicable Daily Periodic Rate (see Account Summary Table for Interest Rate information) and by then multiplying the result by the number of days in the billing cycle. For each Type of Balance, the Balance Subject to Interest Rate is the average daily balance (including new transactions), as calculated pursuant to Section 3.b. below. To get the total interest charges each billing cycle, we add together the interest charges for all Type of Balances. We charge a Minimum Interest Charge (or "Minimum Charge") of $1.00 in any billing cycle in which the interest charge calculated under this Section 3 is less than $1.00. If a minimum interest charge is assessed on your Account in a billing cycle, it will appear on your Statement as a "Minimum Charge" and will be included in the "Interest Charged" section on your Statement.

b. How We Will Calculate Interest on Your Account: We use a method called "Average Daily Balance (including new transactions)" to compute the interest charge. For each type of Balance, the Balance Subject to Interest Rate is the total of the closing daily balances for such Type of Balance for all the days in the billing cycle (treating any negative balance as $0), divided by the number of days in such cycle. Generally, the closing daily balance for each Type of Balance equals the balance at the beginning of the day plus any new transactions of the same Type of Balance and less any payments applied to such balance. At the beginning of each billing cycle, the closing daily balance for each Type of Balance will also include any applicable interest charges and fees carried over from the immediately preceding billing cycle; and in the case of a deferred interest Promotional Offer, it will include any interest charges that may have been assessed on the unpaid promotional balance at the end of the Promotional Offer term.

c. How Interest Accrues and How to Avoid Paying Interest on Purchases: On each Purchase, interest begins to accrue on the transaction date. Generally, you can avoid paying interest on standard Purchases in any given billing cycle if you pay your entire statement closing balance (identified on your Statement as the "New Balance") for that billing cycle in full by the Payment Due Date reflected on that Statement.

If you have a promotional balance(s) on your Account, you may still be able to avoid paying interest on standard Purchases provided you pay by the Payment Due Date the amount that equals the required Minimum Payment Due for that billing cycle plus the total outstanding standard Purchase balance as of the first day of that billing cycle.

For each Type of Balance that is a separate kind of promotional Purchase, please see Section 2 of this Agreement for more information about how to avoid paying interest on these transactions.

d. Treatment of Late Fees and Returned Payment Fees: We do not charge interest on Late Fees or Returned Payment Fees.

4. The Interest Rates on your Account: The "Annual Percentage Rate" or "APR" is the annual rate of interest charged on Account balances. In connection with a special promotion we may charge a reduced promotional rate of interest (which could be as low as a 0% APR). The Daily Periodic Rate ("DPR") will equal the APR divided by 365. See the Account Summary Table for the APR(s) on this Account and the corresponding DPR(s).

5. A Minimum Payment is Due Each Month: Each billing cycle you agree to pay at least the minimum payment due by the payment due date shown on your monthly Statement (the "Minimum Payment Due"). Each Minimum Payment Due will be due the same day of each month ("Payment Due Date") as reflected on the Statement (which will be at least 25 days after your statement closing date each month).

The Minimum Payment Due is calculated as follows:

The sum of:

- a. The following amounts, rounded up to the next highest whole dollar:
 - i. The greater of $29 or 3.5% of the new balance (excluding any balance in connection with a Promotional Offer that has a special payment calculation, (e.g., Equal or Fixed Monthly Payment Offers); PLUS
 - ii. Any applicable fees and charges (except interest charges) assessed in the billing cycle; PLUS
 - iii. Any past due amount; PLUS
- b. Any payment amount due in connection with a Promotional Offer that has a special payment calculation (e.g. Equal or Fixed Monthly Payment Offers.)

The Minimum Payment Due will never be more than the new balance.

Credits, adjustments, refunds, and similar Account transactions will not reduce your Minimum Payment Due. If you pay ahead by paying more than the Minimum Payment Due in one billing cycle, you will not be excused from paying the Minimum Payment Due in subsequent billing cycles.

6. How You Can Make Payments on Your Account: Instructions on how you can make payments on your account will be on your Statement each month.

7. If You Pay Late You Will be Assessed a Late Fee: The first time a Minimum Payment Due is not received by the Payment Due Date, we may charge you a late fee of an amount equal to the Minimum Payment Due or $29, whichever is less. If over the next six billing cycles, the Minimum Payment Due is not received by the Payment Due Date, we will charge you a late fee of an amount equal to the Minimum Payment Due or $40, whichever is less. You understand and agree that at our option, such late fee will be immediately due and payable.

8. If a Payment is Returned You Will be Assessed a Returned Payment Fee: The first time your check or electronic payment is returned to us by your financial institution unpaid or dishonored, we may charge you a returned payment fee of an amount equal to the Minimum Payment Due or $25, whichever is less. If over the next six billing cycles, your check or electronic payment is returned to us by your financial institution unpaid or dishonored, we will charge you a returned payment fee of an amount equal to the Minimum Payment Due or $35, whichever is less. You understand and agree that at our option, such returned payment fee will be immediately due and payable.

9. Administrative Fees: If you request a copy of a Statement, sales draft or payment check, you will pay a fee if permitted by applicable law. The amount of the fee will be disclosed at the time you request this optional service. However, you will not be charged for copies of Statements, sales drafts, or other documents that you request for a billing error/inquiry you may assert under applicable law.

10. Your Credit Limit:

a. Generally: Your initial credit limit for the Account is shown in the materials that accompany the Card(s) and documents we send to you when your Account is opened. 12. How Your Payments Are Applied to Your Account Balance: Subject to the following and applicable law, payments will generally be applied first to the oldest Purchases.

a. How the Minimum Payment is Applied to Your Account: We will generally apply your Minimum Payment Due in the following order: (i) to interest charges and other fees; (ii) to Pay-In-Full Charges; (iii) to purchase transactions with the lowest Daily Periodic Rates and corresponding APRs.

b. Application of Payments in Excess of Minimum Payment. We will generally apply payments and credits in excess of the Minimum Payment Due in the following order: (i) to purchase transactions with the highest Daily Periodic Rates and corresponding APRs; (ii) to purchase transactions with the lowest Daily Periodic Rates and corresponding APRs; and (iii) to interest charges and other fees.

c. Application of Payments during a Deferred Interest Promotional Offer Period: If you have one or more deferred interest Promotional Offer on your Account, payments will be applied differently during the last two billing cycles before the expiration of the deferred interest promotional plan to help ensure that as much of the outstanding balance as possible is repaid by the end of the promotional period. We will apply any payments in excess of the Minimum Payment Due to the promotional plan balance. If more than one promotional offer is expiring when a payment in excess of the Minimum Payment Due is received, we may apply the payment in any manner permitted by applicable law. See Section 2 of this Agreement, and any disclosures provided to you at the time of the deferred interest offer for more information on this type of promotional offer.

13. If Your Payment is Returned Unpaid: If a payment you make is not honored by your bank and it has already been credited by us to your Account, we will reverse the credit and add the amount of the payment back to the Account as of the day the payment was first credited to the Account.

What Will Happen After We Receive Your Letter

When we receive your letter, we must do two things:

1. Within 30 days of receiving your letter, we must tell you that we received your letter. We will also tell you if we have already corrected the error.
2. Within 90 days of receiving your letter, we must either correct the error or explain why we believe the bill is correct.

While we investigate whether or not there has been an error:

- We cannot try to collect the amount in question or report you as delinquent on that amount.
- The charge in question may remain on your statement, and we may continue to charge you interest on that amount.
- While you do not have to pay the amount in question, you are responsible for the remainder of your balance.
- We can apply any unpaid amount against your credit limit.

After we finish our investigation, one of two things will happen:

- If we made a mistake: You will not have to pay the amount in question, or any interest or other fees related to that amount.
- If we do not believe there was a mistake: You will have to pay the amount in question, along with applicable interest and fees. We will send you a statement of the amount you owe and the date payment is due. We may then report you as delinquent if you do not pay the amount we think you owe.

If you receive our explanation but still believe your bill is wrong, you must write to us within 10 days telling us that you still refuse to pay. If you do so, we cannot report you as delinquent without also reporting that you are questioning your bill. We must tell you the name of anyone to whom we reported you as delinquent, and we must let those organizations know when the matter has been settled between us.

If we don't follow all of the rules above, you do not have to pay the first $50 of the amount you question even if your bill is correct.

Your Rights If You Are Dissatisfied With Your Credit Card Purchases

If you are dissatisfied with the goods or services that you have purchased with your credit card, and you have tried in good faith to correct the problem with the merchant, you may have the right not to pay the remaining amount due on the purchase.

To use this right, all of the following must be true:

1. The purchase must have been made in your home state or within 100 miles of your current mailing address, and the purchase price must have been more than $50. (Note: Neither of these are necessary if your purchase was based on an advertisement we mailed to you, or if we own the company that sold you the goods or services.)
2. You must have used your credit card for the purchase. Purchases made with cash advances from an ATM or with a check that accesses your credit card account do not qualify.
3. You must not yet have fully paid for the purchase.

If all of the criteria above are met and you are still dissatisfied with the purchase, contact us in writing at: Customer Service at P.O. Box 100114, Columbia, South Carolina 29202-3114.

While we investigate, the same rules apply to the disputed amount as discussed above. After we finish our investigation, we will tell you our decision. At that point, if we think you owe an amount and you do not pay, we may report you as delinquent.
